

Mission Statement
Sedona Parks & Recreation Commission

The Sedona Parks & Recreation Commission serves as the primary advisory and visionary body for the City's parks and recreation program. They are charged with providing useful, accurate, and up-to-date information to the City Council regarding public open space use and recreational opportunities.

The Commission serves as a communication conduit between citizens, the Parks & Recreation Department and the City Council. It is responsible for supporting the City's goals and objectives as outlined in the Community and Strategic Plans. It nurtures a creative and visionary environment that produces and implements new ideas through a fiscally responsible planning process.

Vision Statement
Sedona Parks & Recreation Commission

To be a Commission that is responsive to the needs of the residents of and visitors to Sedona.

To be a Commission that is free of bias, treating all residents and visitors with equality and fairness.

To be a Commission that is sensitive to the needs of special groups such as the very young, the elderly, the non-English speaking, and the physically/mentally and learning challenged.

To be a Commission that is knowledgeable and responsive to the City's Community and Strategic Plans, and supportive of the Community Vision Statement.

To be a Commission that is receptive to new ideas and trends and willing to consider ideas from all segments of the population.

To be a Commission that is creative and visionary yet knowledgeable of the fiscal and legal restraints of the City.

To be a Commission that embraces both good environmental and economic sustainability practices.

Finally, to be a Commission that is ethical, honest, knowledgeable, independent, and one that conducts business in an open public forum, meeting both the intent and letter of the law.
